Research assistant to Professors Seth Zimmerman and Barbara Biasi (economics of education): data pipelines on large administrative datasets, empirical analysis, replication, and manuscript preparation (Python, R, Stata)

Research Assistant, Institute for International Economic Studies (IIES), Stockholm, 2024–25

Kizazi Kijacho early-childhood field experiment, Professor Ingvid Almås: survey data management, consumption aggregates, item-response-theory measures of child development, heterogeneity analysis, power calculations

Research Assistant, IDEA at CERGE-EI, Prague, 2022

Industrial policy evaluation, Professor Matěj Bajgar: cleaned and linked firm-level microdata; first exposure to the procurement and markups literature behind the thesis

Working Paper	Markups and Public Procurement: Evidence from Czech Construction Tenders — First Place, 32nd Young Economist of the Year Award, Czech Economic Society, 2025 Firms holding Czech procurement contracts charge markups roughly 14% higher than non-participants — a premium stable at 12.5–14.3% across nine estimation methods and 33 specifications even as markup levels range from 1.02 to 2.17, point-identified through lagged procurement status in the productivity process (De Loecker 2013), which breaks the Gandhi–Navarro–Rivers non-identification result. Transparency reforms raise measured markups while lowering profitability — evidence of cost discipline rather than rent extraction — and a contract-level welfare decomposition bounds reachable savings at 3.6% of procurement spending versus 12.3% under marginal-cost pricing. Substantially revised and extended during Yale Ph.D. coursework, 2025–26.
